

Less culpable

Paul M. Hebert

Date: 1947-09-08

Repository Citation

Paul M. Hebert, Less culpable, Nuremberg Trials Documents (1947-09-08).
Available at: https://digitalcommons.law.lsu.edu/nuremberg_docs/22

This Document is brought to you for free and open access by the Hebert Nuremberg Collection at LSU Law Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Nuremberg Trials Documents by an authorized administrator of LSU Law Digital Commons. For more information, please contact kreed25@lsu.edu.

Jottings (3A) Sept 8, 47
This case presents the question of whether the great industrialists of Nazi Germany are to be deemed less culpable than the politicians, diplomats and soldiers who unleashed upon the world the most catastrophic war in modern history and who would have been powerless so to do without the active encouragement, support and assistance of the industrialists. On this subject the IMT said, p. 226 Vol I "Hitler could not make aggressive war by himself. He had to have (over) * * *

With regard to the count of conspiracy the charge is essentially an allegation that the defendants were conspirators engaged in the common plan of waging aggressive wars, thereby causing untold misery to the World and constituting a Crime against Peace.

Jottings (3a) Sept 8, 47

This case presents the question of whether the great industrialists of Nazi Germany are to be deemed less culpable than the politicians, diplomats and soldiers who unleashed upon the world the most catastrophic war in modern history and who would have been powerless so to do without the active encouragement, support and assistance of the industrialists. On this subject the IMT said, p. 226 Vol I "Hitler could not make aggressive war by himself. He had to have (over)

With regard to the count of conspiracy the charge is essentially an allegation that the defendants were conspirators engaged in the common plan of waging aggressive wars, thereby causing untold misery to the World and constituting Crimes against Peace.

the cooperation of statesmen, military leaders, diplomats and business men. When they, with knowledge of his aims, gave him their cooperation, they made themselves parties to the plan he had initiated. They are not to be deemed innocent because Hitler made use of them, if they knew what they were doing. That they were assigned to their tasks by a dictator does not absolve from responsibility for their acts. The relation of leader and follower does not preclude responsibility here any more than it does in the comparable ~~ty~~ tyranny of organized domestic crime.

the cooperation of statesmen, military leaders, diplomats and business men.
When they, with knowledge of his aims, gave him their cooperation, they made themselves parties to the plan he had initiated. They are not to be deemed innocent because Hitler made use of them, if they knew what they were doing, that they were assigned to their tasks by a dictator does not absolve from responsibility for their acts. The relation of leader and follower does not preclude responsibility here any more than it does in the comparable tyranny of organized domestic crime."